Judson Center's Building Community Partnerships Program hosts monthly Parent Support Group Meetings. These meetings focus on different support topics, as well as conduct open floor discussions surrounding issues parents may face during CPS and Foster Care Court Case involvement.

These meetings provide the opportunity to:

- ◆ Receive guidance and support from Parent Partners that can relate to the challenges that come with CPS involvement.
- ◆ Learn and share useful skills and information to navigate the child welfare and foster care systems.
- ◆ Have your questions answered in a safe, supportive and confidential environment.
- ◆ Gain access to invaluable community resources.
